

Grief Education Opportunities

Do you want to create an even safer and more compassionate space for children & teens living with grief? These workshops teach an understanding of how children or teens grieve differently than adults and in doses, whether quietly or loudly. With over thirty years of experience as a former high school teacher and on staff at Brooke's Place, Carol Braden, LMHC works with professionals and individuals, to better understand grieving children and offers invaluable ways to support them.

Please see below for available dates!
